Left the after ride BBQ has been a great success

Even though January is considered the offseason, both the events crew and trail crew have been busy finalizing the 2015 season. And what a awesome season it should be! You can see the 2015 calendar elsewhere in this issue, but the season will kick off with a non championship 3 hour xc on the 14th of March. This year sees the club running a 6 round xc club championship starting with round 1 at Coondoo on the 19th April. Superbowl is back this year after a fair amount of hard work by the trail crew so the club is back to using three tracks.

Other good news for the competitive among us is the inclusion of a 3 round gravity enduro championship beginning at superbowl on the 12th July

For the less racer inclined we have been holding social rides on Friday evenings at the old Cabbage tree track. Some come to ride hard, some take it easy but all enjoy the BBQ at the end of it. These are strictly a social ride and not endorsed by the club but a BBQ after a ride is still a great way to end the week. Hope to see you at one soon. Brad

You know you're a cycling addict when a power bar starts tasting better than a snickers

Does my bum look big on this ?

The trail crew Have been busy lately with a huge effort going into getting Superbowl ready for the 2015 season. And as you can see in the calendar the club is now back to having three tracks up and running. It takes a huge effort to keep three tracks in good riding condition and the trail crew are always happy to see a new face to come and help out on their dig and ride days. If anyone wants to get involved with the trail crew they have a dig and ride day on the second Sunday of every month. Have a look at the scum forum for more info
